Prosperity & The Environment

Mr. John Binkley
Fairbanks

Ms. Kay Brown
Anchorage

Mr. Byron Mallott
Juneau

At the heart of Alaska's cultural, economic and political struggles lies the tension between resource development and conservation. On the 30th anniversary of the formation of the Resource Development Council, we have asked three prominent Alaskans to share their visions for Alaska's future. What do the next 30 years hold for Alaska, our economy and our environment? What lessons have we learned from the past? What must we do to ensure future generations of Alaskans will enjoy both economic prosperity and a healthy natural environment? Each presenter will address these questions and offer their unique perspective on Alaska's future.

RDC Sponsorship Request

Sold out five years in a row, this is one of Alaska's largest and most popular business gatherings of the year! As in previous years, RDC is offering two sponsorship levels for this event. Sponsorship supports vital issue and advocacy work, expert testimony before federal and state agencies, educational programs and other activities. Our efforts are funded through special events and private-sector membership dues.

Our members recognize RDC's effectiveness on major issues facing Alaska and consider their involvement in the organization as an investment in Alaska and their long-term interests. Our ability to work effectively on the issues is linked directly to the support we receive from our donors. Sponsorship promotes your company to others in the business community and demonstrates your commitment to growing Alaska through responsible resource development. RDC appreciates your consideration of the sponsorship options on the following page. Thanks so much for your support!
